

Bourne 'D'

---

1450-1637 (Pottery in Bourne, Lincolnshire, burnt down!)
Fairly hard, smooth, brick red clay body, often with a grey core. Some sparse white flecks of shell and chalk may be included. May have thin white patchy slip over which there is a clear glaze. Jugs, large bowls and cisterns for brewing beer.

